

Sometimes you just need a hand IT Experts On-Demand

Harness the skills of HP's best people

Many people run a bench, we run a business, and we know you run a business too. That's why we are making HP's experts available to you.

Sometimes your team needs a highly skilled IT professional to help you navigate through a particular project. Gaps in your resourcing and skills can present a major obstacle in achieving project deliverables.

At HP, we can help with flexible engagement terms for you to use some of our best people. We have experts locally, nationally, and around the world, able to address your challenges and ensure you deliver on time, because that's how a business runs.

Why choose HP professionals?

Expertise. Take advantage of our senior professionals with skills and knowledge that can be difficult to source in this labour market.

Cost. Get the best in the industry without spending a fortune on training and on-going expenses of permanent staff.

Control. You maintain all operational control over your projects. Our staff are under your direction to help you get the job done.

Agile. We can find the right person at the right time - not a square peg for a round hole.

Certifications. You get to leverage HP's investment in our professionals, who are constantly given the support needed to remain the best in the industry.

HP Success Story

HP and Meridian Energy

This success story shows the impact the 2011 earthquake had on the citizens of Christchurch and our client, Meridian Energy. HP employees go the extra mile to get our clients up and running, despite personal challenges.
